

SUSTAINING MEMBERS

Sustaining members of the Wildlife Disease Association are members having particular interest in the objectives of the Association and who wish to make a significant contribution as determined by Council to support those objectives.

The Wildlife Disease Association is pleased to recognize the following sustaining members:

WILDLIFE CONSERVATION SOCIETY (WCS)

185th Street and Southern Boulevard
Bronx, New York 10460, USA

The WCS has been a sustaining member since 2000 and through a generous contribution of $5,500/annum supports the electronic distribution of the Journal of Wildlife Diseases to more than 135 countries where current economic difficulties would limit Journal access and availability.

ECOHEALTH ALLIANCE is pleased to support the Wildlife Disease Association's important work through a sustaining membership. EcoHealth Alliance's annual contribution of $3,000 covers page charges in the Journal of Wildlife Diseases for articles demonstrating ecosystem health and One-Health principles for authors who may otherwise have insufficient funds for publication, and also provides financial support for the journal's overall success. The Ecohealth Alliance is a New York based non-profit scientific organization that focuses on the connection between human, animal, and environmental health.