and Technology Policy for Latin American Agriculture, Eduardo Trigo and Martín Piñeiro; International Technology: The International Agricultural Research Centers, John K. Coulter; Legal Systems and Private Sector Incentives for the Invention of Agricultural Technology in Latin America, Donald D. Evenson and Robert E. Evenson; Conclusions: Towards an Interpretation of Technical Change in Latin American Agriculture, Martín Piñeiro and Eduardo Trigo.

Mexican–U.S. Interdependence: Economic and Social Perspectives, Clark W. Reynolds; Prospects and Options for Mexican Society, Rolando Cordera and Carlos Tello; Prospects and Options for United States Society, Luis Mairia; The Prospects for Economic Growth in the United States, 1980–2000, Donald A. Nichols; The Economic Signifi-