

Guest Editor

Jane Jeffrie Seley, DNP, MSN, MPH, BC-ADM, CDE, CDTC, is the inpatient diabetes nurse practitioner in the Division of Endocrinology at NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital/Weill Cornell Medical Center in New York City. She is an adjunct assistant professor in the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing's Doctor of Nursing Practice program and a contributing editor for the American Journal of Nursing "Diabetes Under Control" column. She has published extensively in nursing and diabetes journals on the topics of diabetes education and management and is an author of the Endocrine Society's current guidelines for the management of inpatients with hyperglycemia.

Dr. Seley is a member of the American Association of Diabetes Educators' board of directors and serves on the editorial board of Diabetes Technology Society, Practical Diabetology, and Diabetes Health.

Diabetes Spectrum associate editor Carol J. Homko, RN, PhD, CDE, coordinated this From Research to Practice section.