

Technical Editor's Page

The Journal of Offshore Mechanics and Arctic Engineering proudly presents its WWW HomePage on the Internet. It is located at:

<http://oceaneng.eng.hawaii.edu/~omae/jomae.html>

You can use a browser such as Netscape that supports frames to view these pages. You can download information for authors about submission of manuscripts for publication in the Journal. You can contact the Technical Editor and the Associate Editors by e-mail through the links provided in these pages. There is also a small database of the papers included in several past issues of JOMAE. Please visit these pages and bookmark them for future viewing.

As you will notice, the JOMAE Pages are linked to the OMAE Division Pages and also to the ASME Pages. As you browse through these websites, give us your feedback on how to improve them. Realize that web pages are dynamic and will, therefore, be updated periodically. Do not hesitate to send us your comments, they are your pages!

Finally, I would like to thank Dr. Cengiz Ertekin, JOMAE Associate Editor, for his tireless effort in putting the OMAE Pages together. I am sure that you agree with me that Cengiz did a fantastic and thorough job. Thanks, Cengiz, for the work well done!