

Southern California Quarterly

SUMMER 1987

Historical Society of

Southern California

The publication of this Summer 1987 issue of the Southern California Quarterly has been made possible by a grant from the Watson Land Company which celebrates its 75th anniversary this year. The Historical Society of Southern California is grateful for this support and extends congratulations to the firm as it marks this significant milestone in its history.

Southern California Quarterly

SUMMER 1987

Historical Society of

Southern California

VOLUME LXIX • NUMBER 2

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA was founded November 1, 1883, and incorporated February 13, 1891. It has enjoyed an unbroken record of continuous activity and growth. Commencing in 1884, and each year through 1934, the Society issued an Annual Publication. In 1935 the Quarterly was initiated. The Society's publications through 1976 have been described in a concise abstract of articles and separately indexed by Anna Marie and Everett Gordon Hager (comps.), A Bibliography (1958). The Topical Index (1959), and Cumulative Index (1977). A complete list of past Society publications and prices is available on request from the Executive Secretary. Membership classifications, which include subscription to the Quarterly are:

Student (full time with ID) ..	$25.00	Patron	$250.00
Active	$35.00	Business/Professional	$500.00
Sustaining	$50.00	Benefactor	$1000.00
Contributing	$100.00

(Membership dues and contributions to the Society are deductible income tax items. The Society is a non-profit organization.)

200 EAST AVENUE 43
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA 90031
Telephone: (213) 222-0546

INFORMATION FOR CONTRIBUTORS. The Southern California Quarterly is a scholarly journal devoted to the publication of articles and edited documents relating to the history of the Far West, with special emphasis on California and its neighboring regions. The Quarterly welcomes contributions, not only by Society members, scholars, and research workers in the history of the Far West, but also by persons who are working in related disciplines and professions.

Authors whose articles are accepted for publication receive twenty-five reprints without cost. Authors are offered the opportunity to order additional copies at rates quoted by the printer.

In matters of style, the University of Chicago Press Manual of Style (13th ed.) is considered definitive. While articles in any form or style will be considered for publication, the Editorial Board reserves the right to return accepted manuscripts for the required changes. It is requested that manuscripts submitted for consideration include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Manuscript contributions and books for review (submitted at the owner's risk), as well as other editorial matter, should be addressed to the Quarterly's editor: Doyce B. Nunis, Jr., Department of History, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, CA 90089-0034.

The Southern California Quarterly is published yearly in the Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter, and is distributed only to members of the Historical Society of Southern California, whose offices are located at 200 East Avenue 43, Los Angeles, CA 90031. The Editorial Office is located at the Department of History, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, CA 90089-0034. The Quarterly is entered as second-class postage paid at Los Angeles, California. The Society does not assume responsibility for statements of fact or opinion made by contributors.

Copyright 1987 by the Historical Society of Southern California
Printed in the United States
ISSN 0038-3930

TABLE OF CONTENTS

RITES OF PASSAGE? ANGLO AND MEXICAN- AMERICAN CONTRASTS IN A TIME OF CHANGE: LOS ANGELES, 1860-1870 by Ronald C. Woolsey	81
SHEEP RANCHING ON SAN MIGUEL ISLAND by Lois Roberts	103
AMERICAN RECOGNITION AND EAMON DE VALERA: THE HEYDAY OF IRISH REPUB- LICANISM IN CALIFORNIA, 1920-1922 by Timothy J. Sarbaugh	133
AMERICA'S TWO JAPANESE-AMERICAN POLICIES DURING WORLD WAR II by Ward M. McAfee	151
THE WATSON LAND COMPANY: A 75TH ANNIVERSARY SALUTE by Judson A. Grenier	165

BOOK REVIEWS

- Weber, comp. and ed., Our Lady's Mission: A Documentary History of La Purísima Concepción and The Patriarchal Mission: A Documentary History of San José, by John A. Schutz, 177
- Wyatt, The Fall into Eden: Landscape and Imagination in California, by Richard G. Lillard, 179
- Bieder, Science Encounters the Indians, 1820-1880. The Early Years of American Ethnology, by David R. Huelsbeck, 181
- Embrey, Hansen, and Mitson, comps., Manzanar Martyr. An Interview with Harry Y. Ueno, by Judy Mieko Tachibana, 183
- Deloria, Jr., ed., American Indian Policy in the Twentieth Century, by Richard N. Ellis, 185

CONTRIBUTORS

RONALD C. WOOLSEY is on the faculty of Bishop Amat High School in La Puente. He continues to research and publish in the area of his historical interest, namely, southern California with particular attention to Los Angeles in the decades before and after the Civil War. He has contributed two previous essays to this quarterly, one published in 1979 on crime in Los Angeles County and the second on southern California attitudes during the Civil War.

LOIS J. ROBERTS received her B.A. from Cal State Los Angeles, a master's degree from Cal State Northridge, and took her Ph.D. in history from the University of California, Los Angeles. After a decade of teaching, followed by two years in administration at Cal State Long Beach, she became a historical consultant undertaking Cultural Resources Studies for a number of public agencies. Readers will recall her splendid essay published in the Spring 1986 issue on "Rancho Jesús María, Santa Barbara County."

TIMOTHY J. SARBAUGH recently received his Ph.D. in history from Loyola University, Chicago. His undergraduate education was completed at San Jose State University. He is presently a visiting assistant professor in Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington.

WARD M. McAFEE is professor of history in California State University, San Bernardino. He is the author of books on California railroad history, the origins of the Mexican War, and a history of the world's great religions.

JUDSON A. GRENIER, chair of the department of history at California State University, Dominguez Hills, is an editor and co-author of A Guide to Historic Places in Los Angeles County (2nd ed., 1982) and editor of the revised editions of R.C. Gillingham's The Rancho San Pedro (1983). Currently he is studying cross-cultural conflict and compatibility in 1850s Los Angeles.