

“DOWN TO BRASS TACKS IN SCIENCE TEACHING.”

All life is cellular. To study cellular biology is to study the foundation of all biology. Whether the student be a high school sophomore or a medical student, whether he be taking biology as a “cultural” subject, or as a foundation for specialization in the biological sciences: Good, representative material is a desideratum.

We can supply such material. In fact, we try to supply, not only the best of the usual material, but some preparations not so well known, but excellent for teaching, demonstration and research.

A Message to Biology Teachers

It is generally conceded that it is practically essential in present-day teaching to keep posted on the current literature in any particular field. Yet no busy teacher possibly could read all of the important papers in the original even if the many journals published throughout the world were available. It was for this reason that a group of prominent biologists organized Biological Abstracts back in 1926. Now this cooperative undertaking is abstracting and indexing annually more than 30,000 significant contributions to the biological sciences.

For biology teachers who really are interested in their chosen field, this service is invaluable because text books quickly become outdated and it affords the only means by which they can keep up to date on the many advances that research brings to light.

As well as the complete edition, covering all fields of biology, Biological Abstracts also is published in nine low-priced sectional editions which are specially designed for individuals who are interested only in one or more closely related fields.
