

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I'd like to thank my colleagues in the Cornell Death Penalty Project for the work they do and for their friendship, the contributors to this volume for their scholarship, and two of my former students, Robert B. Black (Cornell '01) and Jonathan N. Francis (Cornell '02), both of whom provided service above and beyond the call. I'd also like to thank Valerie Millholland, the editor at Duke who shepherded the book through the publication process, and Neal Devins, the general editor of the series in which the book appears, for his insight, advice, and encouragement along the way. Finally, I'd like to thank my wife, for everything.
