

Acknowledgments

I first studied modernism with Hugh Kenner and Herbert N. Schneidau; although neither is likely to agree with many of the views expressed in this book, I owe a great deal to both of them and am grateful for the opportunity to acknowledge that debt. My own students at Johns Hopkins—especially Shelly Eversley, Maria Farland, Jared Gardner, Todd Jackson, Cathy Jurca, Alex Love, Dan McGee, Mark McGurl, Mark Schoening, Michael Szalay, and Joanne Wood—have made significant contributions to this project, as have many colleagues at Hopkins and elsewhere: Deborah Chay, Jerome Christensen, Arnold Davidson, Neil Hertz, Stanley Fish, Henry Louis Gates Jr., Amy Kaplan, Ruth Leys, W. J. T. Mitchell, Stephen Nichols, Donald Pease, Ross Posnock, Michael Rogin, and the two anonymous readers for Duke University Press. Finally, Our America would not have been possible without Sharon Cameron, Frances Ferguson, Michael Fried, and Steven Knapp.
