

Acknowledgments

My sincere thanks to Amber J. Meador and Hadeen Stokes for their assistance in typing and shaping the manuscript. Poet Mark Nowak's insightful comments and editing were most helpful, and Anthony Bannon's artistic acumen influenced me greatly in developing my association with Attica Correctional Facility. Special thanks to the late Dudley Randall, owner of Broadside Press in Detroit, Michigan. Thanks also to the late poet Gwendolyn Brooks, who first "saw something" in what the men in the Attica writers workshop had to say in their poems. I am glad I listened to her and brought the men's poems and my journal to the world. Thank you, Ed Smith, for recommending me to Attica State Prison, and thanks to my son, Angus Wilton McLean III, for his technical assistance.
