

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS — xiii

PROLOGUE. NOBODY KNOWS A THING — xix

INTRODUCTION. ARTIFACTUAL — 1

Conflict as Such — 1 — Overview — 15 — Emergence and Recursion — 23 — Comparison and Context — 29 — Time,
Secrecy, Artifactuality — 33

Contents

1

Forensic — 45

The Only Terrorist Is the State — 48 — Time Machines — 63 —
Circles of Trust — 71 — Same Old Shit — 78 — The Politics of Bones — 83 — History Doesn't Belong to Us — 87 — Keep the Door
Locked — 90 — Those Aren't His Bones — 96 — Very Transparent — 103 — Why Humiliate the Dead? — 110 — Lost Heroes of the Republic — 126 — The Bones Become More Human as We Look at Them — 133 — Outside of Time — 139 — Endless — 147 —
Whether a Genocide Has Taken Place — 150 — We All Have the Same DNA — 154 — We All Have Darkness in Our Hearts — 157 —
Nonknowledge — 159 — Let Me Rest — 166

2

Documentary — 173

An Impossible Thing — 176 — My Own Archive — 180 — Stills — 191 —
A Brief History of Cypriot Documentary Film — 201 — This Empty
Folder — 213 — There Is No Meta-archive — 225 — I Didn't Know —
229 — A Crystal Image of Time — 250 — More Beautiful — 260 —
What I'd Been Missing — 271 — The Cave — 278

EPILOGUE. OUR OWN GHOSTS	— 287
APPENDIX. ARCHIVE	— 299
NOTES	— 305
FILMOGRAPHY	— 337
REFERENCES	— 339
INDEX	— 353