Report of Second Annual Meeting

THE SECOND ANNUAL MEETING of the American Society for Clinical Nutrition, held at the Colton Manor Hotel in Atlantic City, New Jersey, on April 28, 1962, was attended by thirty-seven members and ninety guests. The new officers for 1962-1963 are William B. Bean, President; W. Henry Sebrell, Jr., Vice-President/President-Elect; Robert E. Olson, Past President; Robert E. Hodges, Secretary-Treasurer; Willard A. Krehl, Councilor 1962-1963; George V. Mann, Councilor 1962-1964; and Robert E. Shank, Councilor 1962-1965. The Membership Committee was appointed as follows: Dr. Robert Olson, Chairman; Dr. Grace A. Goldsmith and Dr. Robert E. Hodges.

With the July 1962 issue of The American Journal of Clinical Nutrition, Dr. S. O. Waife, who has served with great distinction for the past ten years, relinquishes his editorial reins. Dr. Willard A. Krehl takes over as Editor-in-Chief, and Dr. Robert E. Hodges as Associate Editor. The Editorial Board will be composed of Drs. Grace A. Goldsmith, Paul György, Laurance Kinsell, Charles S. Davidson, Max M. Wintrobe, William D. Robinson, Robert E. Olson, D. Mark Hegsted, Donald M. Watkin and Maurice E. Shils.

During the past year thirty-five new members were duly elected into active membership after first being approved for membership in the parent organization, the American Institute of Nutrition. Two constitutional amendments were approved, the details of which were published in the May issue of the Journal. Briefly, these provide for the editor-in-chief to serve as an ex officio member of the Council and for proper disposition of residual funds should the Society be terminated for any reason.

The Council agreed to hold the next annual meeting in Atlantic City at the time of the meeting of the American Society for Clinical Investigation. The membership is being polled to determine, unofficially, preferences for the time and place of subsequent meetings.

The American Institute of Nutrition is participating in the next International Congress of Nutrition which will be held sometime in August 1963 in Edinburgh, Scotland. A fund is available to help defray expenses of those members who wish to attend. For additional information contact either the ASCN secretary or Dr. Arnold Schaefer, Secretary of the AIN.
