CASE REPORT

Spinal anaesthesia for Caesarean section. Management of a patient with severe cardiovascular disease .................. 1275
S. M. Mostafa

ABSTRACTS

Proceedings of the Combined Meeting of the Neuroanaesthetists’ Travelling Club with German and Austrian Neuroanaesthetists, Edinburgh, March 29–31, 1984 ................................................. 1295

CORRESPONDENCE

Tube-in-tube: a cause of acute airway obstruction ............. 1317
Viruses and endotracheal tubes ...................................... 1317
Intercostal nerve blockade .......................................... 1318
Recovery after brain injury—some neurotransmitter and clinical implications ......................................................... 1319
Nitrous oxide distends the bowel .................................... 1319

DECEMBER

EDITORIAL: The computer and anaesthesia. A personal view of the new technology ............................................. 1321
N. W. Goodman
Acknowledgement ...................................................... 1324
W. Fitch

CLINICAL INVESTIGATION

A re-assessment of the validity of the iso-shunt graph ............. 1325
P. G. P. Lawler and J. F. Nuin

Sore throat after intubation of the trachea .......................... 1337
M. V. Shah and W. W. Mapleson

Gas exchange and haemodynamics during thoracotomy ............. 1343

O. Werner, G. Malmkeist, A. Beckman, S. Stahle and L. Nordström

Intrathecal administration of hyperbaric morphine for the relief of pain in labour ............................................. 1351

Choice of local anaesthetic drug for extradural Caesarean section. Comparison of 0.5% and 0.75% bupivacaine and 1.5% lidocaine .................................................. 1361

Fixation of extradural catheters by means of subcutaneous tissue tunnelling ......................................................... 1369
P. Carl, M. E. Crawford and O. Raolo

Effect of posture on extradural pressure ............................. 1373
J. L. Shah

Placental blood flow during Caesarean section performed under subarachnoid blockade ........................................ 1379
P. Jouppila, R. Jouppila, T. Barmoff and A. Koioula

Kinetics of thiopentone in relation to the site of sampling .......................................... 1385
R. L. Barratt, G. G. Graham and T. A. Torda

Thiopentone pharmacokinetics in patients with chronic alcoholism .................................................. 1393
E. Couderc, F. Ferrier, J. P. Haberer, D. Henzel and P. Dowdextin

Pharmacokinetics of lignocaine in children following caudal anaesthesia .................................................. 1399
C. Ecoffey, J. Desparmet, A. Berdeaux, M. Maury, J. F. Giudicelli and C. Saint-Maurice

EXPERIMENTAL

Effect of nitrous oxide on visual, auditory and somatosensory evoked potentials ............................................. 1403
P. S. Sebel, P. J. Flynn and D. A. Ingram

Haemodynamic and cerebral effects of ATP-induced hypotension .................................................. 1409
H. Van Aken, C. Puckstein, W. Fitch and D. I. Graham

APPARATUS

Computer assistance in the control of depth of anaesthesia ............................................. 1417
R. T. Chilcoat, J. N. Lunn and W. W. Mapleson

Microcomputer-based anaesthetic record system .................. 1433
J. W. Prentice and G. N. C. Kenny

CASE REPORTS

Massive lignocaine overdose during cardiopulmonary bypass. Successful treatment with cardiac pacing .................. 1439
J. Noble, D. J. Kennedy, R. D. Latimer, I. Hardy, D. W. Bethune, J. M. Collis and J. Wallwork

Occurrence of malignant hyperpyrexia in a patient with osteogenesis imperfecta ............................................. 1443
Locating the internal jugular vein .......................... 1447
Hydrogen bonding in mechanisms of anaesthesia tested with chloroform and deuterated chloroform .......... 1447

BOOKS RECEIVED ................................................................. 1450

ERRATA .................................................................................. 1451

Index to Volume 56 ............................................................. 1453

SUPPLEMENT

REVIEW OF VOLATILE INHALATION ANAESTHETIC AGENTS

PART I
Chairman's Introduction .................................................. 1S
   J. F. Nunn
Physical and chemical properties of anaesthetic agents (with an appendix on the Manufacture of Isoflurane) ................. 3S
   R. C. Terrell

A reassessment of the molecular structure – functional relationships of the inhaled general anaesthetics........ 9S
   M. J. Halsey
Metabolism of the inhaled anaesthetics: implications of enzyme induction ................................................. 27S
   R. I. Masse
Discussion ............................................................................. 43S
(Chairman: J. F. Nunn)

PART II
Chairman's Introduction .................................................. 45S
   A. A. Spence
Inhalation anaesthetic agents in neurosurgery .................. 47S
   E. A. M. Frost
Clinical comparison of inhalation anaesthetic agents ......................................................................................... 57S
   R. M. Jones
The pharmacology of isoflurane ........................................ 71S
   E. I. Eger
Clinical anaesthesia with isoflurane. A review of the Multicentre study ...................................................... 101S
   W. J. Levy
Discussion ............................................................................. 113S
(Chairman: J. F. Nunn)
