

Acknowledgments

The last edition of this book was edited by Dr. Donald Coustan, a gifted clinician, educator, and researcher. Dr. Coustan has mentored many of us who now care for women with diabetes in pregnancy. His work has forever changed diabetes-in-pregnancy care and inspired the next generation of diabetes-in-pregnancy leaders. Although we have updated this edition, the fifth edition was beyond thorough, and as such, we used it as the foundation for most of what is included here. Therefore, we would like to acknowledge the important contributions of the many health professionals who contributed to previous editions of this book.
