Conclusions
This paper is included in the workshop because it points out the discrepancy between nurse specialists' prescriptive authority at macro (legal) and micro (workplace) level and shows that task substitution processes should take into account the considerable influence of the meso (organisational) level.