Announcement
Publishing Online Ahead of Print
Beginning with the January 2010 issue, the Archives of Dermatology now offers a monthly article on our Web site that is published 2 months ahead of its print publication. The editors along with editorial board member Maria L. Chanco Turner, MD, will select a manuscript that we believe has the most potential to change the clinical practice of dermatologic care. The selected manuscript will be electronically available to our readers on the third Monday of each month in conjunction with online publication of the month’s issue at http://www.archdermatol.com.
