Small increase in substratum pH causes the dieback of one of Europe’s most common lichens, Lecanora conizaeoides

Markus Hauck, Philipp I. Otto, Sebastian Dittrich, Mascha Jacob, Claudia Bade, Inken Dörfler and Christoph Leuschner

During the editing process of this article a hyphen was mistakenly introduced into the word ‘substratum’ in the title and the text of this article, and also into the word ‘subordinate’ on page 364. We apologise for these errors, and the correct title is shown above.