MRI features of breast cancer: a correlation study with HER-2 receptor

The author affiliation for J. H. Chen was incomplete. The correct affiliations are given below. The legend to Figure 1 was incorrect. The correct legend is given below.

G. Agrawal¹, J. H. Chen¹,4*, H. M. Baek¹, D. Hsiang², R. S. Mehta³, O. Nalcioglu¹ & M.-Y. Su¹
¹Tu and Yuen Center for Functional Onco-Imaging; ²Department of Surgery; ³Department of Medicine, University of California, Irvine, CA, USA;
⁴Department of Radiology, China Medical University Hospital, Taichung, Taiwan

A case of HER-2-positive invasive ductal carcinoma. Although no definite mass could be delineated on magnetic resonance precontrast T1 weighted image (upper), multiple small focal lesions (arrows) are seen on maximal intensity projection image (MIP) after contrast administration (lower).