Conclusions: Molecular status of NSCLC is associated with biological behavior. At diagnosis, 49.1% of EGFRþ pts had bone mets. In particular, because EGFRþ pts have a notably better prognosis, screening for and prevention of skeletal-related events in NSCLC pts with an EGFR mutation is reasonable.

Legal entity responsible for the study: Palermo University Hospital

Funding: Palermo University Hospital

Disclosure: All authors have declared no conflicts of interest.